

Sinclair Broadcasting uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get their news and their biases. Sinclair is showing a tendentious "documentary" about John Kerry immediately before an election, without offering a response or even acknowledging that there is another side. Shame on you for weakening the fairness doctrine and allowing this to happen.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. Otherwise, the company with the most dollars wins the most votes. Thank you.
